

Generating development and innovation through culture and the arts.

Vision:

Offering consultancy, training and research services in the cultural field.

Deliver project management, communication strategies and innovative solutions.

Create a synergy between the cultural sector, public and private entities and the corporate sphere where culture becomes an effective and viable vehicle for economic growth and social development.

Give impetus to cultural and territorial valorization while creating fruitful and reciprocal synergies between culture and the business sector.

Creating awareness of the value added and potential growth through culture, establishing a new hub for cultural management and innovative projects on an international level.

Background:

Public entities, artists, individuals, the corporate sector and local communities have needs which are still unfulfilled and are becoming strongly perceived: creativity, art and culture can be used as a tool to develop new paths of growth, both economically and socially.

We provide: access to financial resources, fundraising and communication strategies for artists and organisations; innovative marketing concepts for the business community; professional consultancy services for the public sector and NGOs, cultural project planning, territorial marketing for local communities.

We believe in:

Stimulating dialogue and valuing diversity

Innovation and sustainability

Creativity

Technology and economy working in synergy with culture and human values

Education and effective communication

We offer consultancy and research services:

- to public entities involved in Cultural management (cultural marketing, urban regeneration and territorial marketing, market research, professional training, merchandising & publications, project planning for specific and interdisciplinary areas, streamlining of PR)
- to organisations involved in culture (EU funding, project planning and management)
- to businesses and corporations who want to integrate culture and creativity in their marketing plan and communication strategies
- to artists and individuals in the creative industry for marketing, pr, and events management
